SEC. 24. And be it further enacted, That each collector shall be charged with the whole amount of taxes by him receipted, whether contained in lists delivered to him by the assessors respectively, or delivered or transmitted to him by assistant assessors from time to time, or by other collectors, and shall be credited with the amount of duties or taxes contained in the lists transmitted in the manner above provided to other collectors, and by them receipted as aforesaid, and also for the duties or taxes of such persons as may have absconded or become insolvent prior to the day when the duty or tax ought, according to the provisions of this act, to have been collected: Provided, That it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the First Comptroller of the Treasury that due diligence was used by the collector, and that no property was left from which the duty or tax could have been recovered. And each collector shall also be credited with the amount of all property purchased by him for the use of the United States, provided he shall faithfully account for and pay over the proceeds thereof upon a resale of the same as required by this act.

SEC. 25. And be it further enacted, That if any collector shall fail either to collect or to render his account, or to pay over in the manner or within the times hereinbefore provided, it shall be the duty of the First Comptroller of the Treasury, and he is hereby authorized and required, immediately after such delinquency, to report the same to the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall issue a warrant of distress against such delinquent collector and his sureties, directed to the marshal of the district, therein expressing the amount of the taxes with which the said collector is chargeable, and the sums, if any, which have been paid. And the said marshal shall, himself or by his deputy, immediately proceed to levy and collect the sum which may remain due, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels, or any personal effects of the delinquent collector, giving at least five days notice of the time and place of sale, in the manner provided by law for advertising sales of personal property on execution in the State wherein such collector resides; and furthermore, if such goods, chattels, and effects cannot be found sufficient to satisfy the said warrant, the said marshal or his deputy shall and may proceed to levy and collect the sum which remains due by distress and sale of the goods and chattels or any personal effects of the surety or sureties of the delinquent collector, giving notice as hereinbefore provided. And the bill of sale of the officer of any goods, chattels, or other personal property distrained and sold as aforesaid shall be conclusive evidence of title to the purchaser, and prima facie evidence of the right of the officer to make such sale, and of the correctness of his proceedings in selling the same. And for want of goods and chattels or other personal effects of such collector or his sureties sufficient to satisfy any warrant of distress issued pursuant to the preceding section of this act, the lands and real estate of such collector and his sureties, or so much thereof as may be necessary for satisfying the said warrant, after being advertised for at least three weeks in not less than three public places in the collection district, and [illegible] printed in the county or district, if any there be, prior to the proposed time of sale, [illegible] shall be sold at public auction by the marshal or his deputy, who, upon such sale, shall, as such marshal or deputy marshal, make and deliver to the purchaser of the premises so sold a conveyance thereof, to be executed and acknowledged in the manner and form prescribed by the laws of the State in which said lands are situated, which [illegible] shall invest the purchaser with all the [illegible] and interest of the defendant or defendants [illegible] existing at the time [illegible] And all moneys that may remain [illegible] the proceeds of the sale after satisfying the said warrant of distress and paying the reasonable costs and charges of sale shall be returned to the proprietor of the lands or real estate sold as aforesaid.

SEC. [illegible] And be it further enacted, That in case of the sickness or temporary disability of a collector [illegible] such duties, the same may be discharged by a deputy; they may be devolved by him upon one of his deputies: Provided, That information thereof be immediately communicated to the Secretary of the Treasury, and shall not [illegible] approved by him: And provided further, That the responsibility of the collector or his sureties to the United States shall not be affected or impaired thereby.

SEC. [illegible] And be it further enacted, That in case any collector shall die, resign, or be removed, the deputies of such collector shall continue to act until their successor is appointed, and the deputy of such collector longest in service at the time immediately preceding [illegible] shall until a successor shall be appointed, discharge all the duties of said collector, and for the official acts and defaults of such deputy a remedy shall be had on the official bond of the collector, as in other cases; and of two or more deputies appointed on the same day, the one residing nearest the residence of the collector at the time of his death, resignation, or removal shall in like manner discharge the said duties until the appointment of a successor; and any bond or security taken of such deputy by such collector pursuant to the first section of this act shall be available to his heirs or representatives to indemnify them for loss or damage accruing from any act of the proper deputy so continuing or so succeeding to the duties of such collector.

SEC. 31. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the collectors aforesaid, or their deputies, in their respective districts, and they are hereby authorized, to collect all the duties and taxes imposed by this act, however the same may be designated, and to prosecute for the recovery of the same, and for the recovery of any sum or sums which may be forfeited by virtue of this act, and all fines, penalties, and forfeitures which may be incurred or imposed by virtue of this act, shall and may be sued for and recovered in the name of the United States, or of the collector within whose district any such fine, penalty, or forfeiture shall have been incurred, in any proper form of action, or by any appropriate form of proceeding before any circuit or district court of the United States for the district within which said fine, penalty, or forfeiture may have been incurred, or before any other court of competent jurisdiction, and, where not otherwise and differently provided for, one moiety thereof shall be to the use of the United States, and the other moiety thereof to the use of the person who, if a collector or deputy collector, shall first inform of the cause, matter, or thing whereby any such fine, penalty, or forfeiture was incurred.

SEC. 32. And be it further enacted, That if any person, in any case, matter, hearing, or other proceeding in which an oath or affirmation shall be required to be taken or administered under and by virtue of this act, shall, upon the taking of such oath or affirmation, knowingly and willingly swear or affirm falsely, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and shall, on conviction thereof, be subject to the like punishment and penalties now provided by the laws of the United States for the crime of perjury.

SEC. 33. And be it further enacted, That separate accounts shall be kept at the Treasury of all moneys received from internal duties or taxes in each of the respective States, Territories, and collection districts; and that separate accounts shall be kept of the amount of each species of duty or tax that shall accrue, so as to exhibit, as far as may be, the amount collected from each source of revenue, with the moneys paid to the collectors and deputy collectors, and to the other officers employed in each of the respective States, Territories, and collection districts, an abstract in tabular form of which accounts it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury, annually, in the month of December, to lay before Congress.

SEC. 34. And be it further enacted, That there shall be allowed to the collectors appointed under this act, in full compensation for their services and that of their deputies in carrying this act into effect, a commission of four per centum upon the first hundred thousand dollars, and two per centum upon all sums above one hundred thousand dollars, such commissions to be computed upon the amounts by them respectively paid over and accounted for under the instructions of the Treasury Department: Provided, That in no case shall such commissions exceed the sum of ten thousand dollars per annum, except as hereinafter provided. And there shall be further allowed to each collector his necessary and reasonable charges for stationery and blank books used in the performance of his official duties, which, after being duly examined and certified by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall be paid out of the Treasury: Provided, That the Secretary of the Treasury be authorized to make such further allowances as may be reasonable in cases in which from the territorial extent of the district, or from the amount of internal duties collected, it may seem just to make such allowance, but the whole compensation shall not exceed ten thousand dollars, except in collection districts embracing more than one Congressional district.

SEC. 35. And be it further enacted, That when any duty or tax shall have been paid by levy and distraint, any person or persons or party who may feel aggrieved thereby may apply to the assessor of the district for relief, and exhibit such evidence as he, she, or they may have of the wrong done, or supposed to have been done, and after a full investigation the assessor shall report the case with such parts of the evidence as he may judge material, including also such as may be regarded material by the party aggrieved, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, who may, if it shall be made to appear to him that such duty or tax was levied or collected, in whole or in part, wrongfully or unjustly, certify the amount wrongfully or unjustly levied or collected, and the same shall be refunded and paid to the person or persons or party as aforesaid, from any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, upon the presentation of such certificate to the proper officer thereof.

SEC. 36. And be it further enacted, That in all cases of distraint and sale of goods, or chattels, for non-payment of taxes provided for in this act, the bill of sale of such goods or chattels given by the officer making such sale to the purchaser thereof shall be conclusive evidence of the right of the officer to make such sale, and of the correctness of his proceedings in selling the same.

SEC. 37. And be it further enacted, That if for any cause, at any time after this act goes into operation, the laws of the United States cannot be executed in a State or Territory of the United States, or any part thereof, or within the District of Columbia, it shall be the duty of the President, and he is hereby authorized to proceed to execute the provisions of this act within the limits of such State or Territory, or part thereof, or District of Columbia, so soon as the authority of the United States therein shall be re-established, and to collect the sums which would have been due from the persons residing or holding property, goods, wares, or merchandise, objects or articles therein liable to pay any duty, license, or tax, with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum thereon from the time such duty, license, or tax ought to have been paid until paid, in the manner and under the regulations prescribed in this act, so far as applicable; and where not applicable the assessment and levy shall be made and the time and manner of collection regulated by the instructions and directions of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

SEC. 38. And be it further enacted, That the officers who may be appointed under this act, except within those districts within any State or Territory which have been or may be otherwise specially provided for by law, shall be and hereby are authorized, in all cases where the payment of such tax has not been assumed by the State, to perform all the duties relating to or regarding the assessment and collection of the direct tax imposed by an act entitled "An act to provide increased revenue from imports, to pay interest on the public debt, and for other purposes," approved August fifth, eighteen hundred and sixty-one. MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 1[illegible], 1862

The new Railroad at the Cascades

On Tuesday of last week quite a party from Portland and Vancouver visited the Cascades on the [illegible] enjoyed the fine scenery about there and examined the recent railroad improvements made by the Oregon Steam Navigation Company. Our informant expresses the belief that but few of our citizens realize the extent, cost and public importance of these improvements to the country when they shall be completed.

The improvements are on the north bank of the river. They commence low enough down to secure a capital site for the depot on the Lower Columbia high above all floods and on a most beautiful plateau. The road starts from this point and is carried over sloughs, canyons and through small elevations of land, and on benches cut into the side of the bluffs until it reaches Bush's claim, where for the present it is stopped. The road is completed to near the point spoken of, and is made in the best manner, comparing favorably with railroads in the Eastern States. A vast deal of work has been done in excavations and fillings. The trestle work is strong, well put up, and capable of sustaining ten times the burthens that can be placed upon them. One of the bridges is sixty feet high and made in the best manner, of massive timber. The red fir is well adapted to all cases in which timber is here required. The iron for the rails is manifestly of excellent quality and of unusual length. The whole distance from the commencement of the road to its designed terminus is about five miles, four of which are completed. This enterprise was commenced on the 17th of May last, and the work demonstrates the skill of the engineer and the full supply of laborers furnished by the company to push forward the work.

The company have already on hand a number of freight cars built at San Francisco, and they are causing to be built on the ground two passenger cars of the style of Eastern passenger cars, and they promise to equal in elegance and convenience any cars found on Eastern roads. And why should not this be the case? We have as good workmen and material as can be had in the East.

While our informant was passing over the new road, as far as completed, he says that the appearance of the work, its solidity, the evident skill in which the grading, the trestle work and the bridges had been constructed, gave a feeling of safety and confidence not realized in passing over roads which, from their manner of construction, are necessarily of an ephemeral character. The new road is manifestly designed to be a permanent institution, as far as skill and cost can make it.

We deeply regretted that there should be any obstacle to the immediate completion of the whole road. But such there is. When the road was commenced, it was believed that Capt. Bradford's claim covered the whole line of the road, with the exception of a small portion on the upper terminus. Since the Commissioner of the Land Office has decided in favor of the claim of Bush to a portion of the land over which the road must pass. Mr Bush refuses to grant the right of way except on terms to which the company cannot assent. An injunction has been issued against the further progress of the road. It can only be finished now up to the Bush line. At the December term of the U. S. District Court in Vancouver, it is understood commissioners will be appointed to estimate the damage that Mr Bush will suffer in the passage of the road over a portion of his claim. That commission should promptly do its duty. A great improvement, of vast value to the upper and lower country, should not be arrested on trifling grounds. We regret to learn the feeling that Mr. Bush has upon the matter, and which exhibited itself in an unjustifiable assault upon the engineer of the road. We apprehend that when this whole difficulty, on his part, shall be settled, he will come to the conclusion that the exercise of a different feeling on his part—without the advice of others who desire a slice—would have better satisfied him than he will be by his efforts to put a stop to a great improvement demanded by the wants of the country. We have no other interest in this matter than has every citizen who is anxious for the rapid development of the wealth both of the upper and lower country. The great work around the Cascades of the Columbia, should be promptly completed. The designed depots at the termini will be constructed at once when the road is made. These depots and the road, will render the passage of the portage easy, pleasant and certain, and be abundantly sufficient for the business of the upper and lower country for fifty years to come.

We have neglected to say that the gauge of the road is five feet, and that L. F. Cartee Esq. is the engineer of the work. We bespeak for him a job on the first section of the Pacific and Atlantic Railroad.

Our informant has also in his notes referred to complaints which have been made to the effect that the O. S. N. Co. in constructing the road, have seriously injured the military road, constructed by Government over the portage. He examined these complaints and the road with the view of ascertaining the exact truth, and he says to the friends of the military road, that in the construction of the railroad it has not been injured. Wherever the railroad crosses the military road, good crossings have been made, nor has the passage of the railroad under the bluff parallel for a great distance with the military road, injured it in the least. Slides will take place from the bluffs on the military road no oftener than before, and which of necessity must be removed by the company—their road being below the military road, and further, the road in the place indicated must be sustained by a heavy work below, which will cost the company thousands of dollars. We, therefore cannot but regard the complaints referred to, without just foundation—manifestly on inspection, unreasonable and unjust.

NEW YORK, Oct [illegible]—A dispatch from the headquarters of the Army [illegible] the 2d, says President Lincoln arrived at Harper's Ferry on a special train from Washington yesterday [illegible] by Sumner's Division [illegible] a cordial interview with McClellan and Sumner [illegible] a brilliant cavalcade [illegible] Division and Brigade Generals, with the members of their staffs, reviewed Sumner's corps on Bolivar Heights. The troops [illegible] ed the President and Gen McClellan with great enthusiasm.

This morning he visited Maryland Heights, at noon rode over to McClellan's headquarters and during the afternoon he was conducted over the Antietam battle-field. The President manifested the greatest interest in all matters pertaining [illegible]. In the evening he returned to McClellan's headquarters. To-morrow he will review the other troops, and return to Washington on Saturday.

A Washington letter to the Commercial Advertiser records several rumors connected with the President's visit to McClellan, among others that he intends to detach one of the latter's officers for an important duty—indicating Burnside as the person [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Oct 5.—Gen Hooker has so far recovered that he is ready to resume his command whenever ordered.

Gen Harney is said to be destined to the command in the West.

The Richmond Whig of the 30th contains the report of the proceedings of the rebel Senate on President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation. A resolution was offered declaring that the proclamation is levelled against certain Confederate States, and is such a gross violation of the usages of civilized warfare, such an outrage on the rights of private property, and an invitation to atrocious servile war, therefore it should be held up to the execration of mankind and counteracted by such retaliatory measures as in the judgment of the President are best calculated to secure its withdrawal or arrest its execution. Speeches were made by several members in favor of raising the black flag and proclaiming the war one of extermination to all the invaders of Southern soil. The resolution was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Beauregard, on the 24th of September, officially announced his assumption of the command of the District of South Carolina and Georgia.

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct 3.—The flag of truce boat, from Aiken's Landing, brought about a dozen passengers, one of whom reports that the rebel Congress had resolved that in all future actions the President order the black flag to be raised and to exterminate the Federals without granting quarter to any one.

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct 3.—The Richmond Whig of the 1st, speaking of Lincoln's proclamation as ordaining a servile insurrection in the Confederate States, says: "It is a dash of the pen to destroy $4,000,000,000 of our property and is a bid for slaves to rise in insurrection, with the assurance that the whole military and naval power of the United States will aid it." It speaks of the cruelty of the Administration and says that Butler is a saint compared with his master. "Our military operations," says the Whig, "henceforth will assume a very grave character. We feel that the new programme will necessarily destroy all chance of terms between us and the United States. The next campaign will be a tremendous one, both for magnitude and character in its operations. Let our authorities prepare the whole strength of our people for a tremendous shock. The enemy is making great preparations as well as issuing fiendish proclamations. We must respond with equal energy. If we don't, we are lost." The Whig says the movements of Lee and Jackson were towards Warrenton on Saturday.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 4.—A Louisville dispatch, dated the 3d, to the Inquirer, says that the rebels had begun to fortify Frankfort but are now evacuating the same. The rebels, 30,000 strong, were fortifying the south bank of Salt River, the Federal advance occupying the northern bank.

NEW YORK, Oct 4.—An officer in Garibaldi's army tenders the services of from 4,000 to 5,000 veteran soldiers already equipped to fight for the Union and asks the State of New York to accept them.

The British iron-clad steamer [illegible], from Liverpool, was captured while attempting to enter Wilmington, N. C. Her cargo was valued at $250,000 and consisted of rifles, gunpowder, &c.

ST. LOUIS, Oct 4.—The rebels at [illegible] say they have 10,000 men at [illegible] and also 30,000 in Arkansas [illegible] line, and as soon as they [illegible] tend to march direct on St. Louis. All the prisoners taken tell of a rich [illegible] them when they take St. Louis.

WASHINGTON, Oct 4.—It is believed that the nearest point to Washington [illegible] Potomac at which rebel [illegible] arms is the Rappahannock Station, on the Orange and Alexandria [illegible] miles from Alexandria.

CINCINNATI, Oct 4.—A correspondent from Gen Morgan's army at [illegible] says [illegible] hazardous [illegible] the march northward he was [illegible] harassed by the rebel cavalry. On one [illegible] 14 hours per day and [illegible] days the troops had no water except what they could find in stagnant pools [illegible] ing their hardships [illegible] health. All the guns [illegible] away except four 32 p[illegible] transportation. The trunnions of these [illegible] knocked off before they were abandoned.

NEW YORK, October 4.—The steamer [illegible] from New Orleans the 26th and Key West the 29th has arrived. Gen Butler restored civil law to New Orleans on the 23d ult., and has ordered all the citizens, male and female, above the age of 18, to take the oath of allegiance before October 1st on pain [illegible] ment and confiscation of property [illegible] guerillas from the country above [illegible] the river came down to [illegible] the 22d and surrendered themselves [illegible] disgusted with the life of outlaws they had been leading. They say [illegible] hope on the first opportunity.

LOUISVILLE, Oct [illegible]—The rebels, in large force [illegible] Bardstown yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Eight hours afterwards Gen [illegible] the advance of [illegible] troops entered the town. [illegible] pursuing the rebels this morning.

FREDERICK, Md., Oct [illegible]—President Lincoln was enthusiastically received by a large concourse of soldiers and citizens yesterday. The President spoke briefly, thanking the soldiers for the good service they had rendered and the energy they had shown and hardships endured, and the citizens for the devotion they had shown the government.

WASHINGTON, OCTOBER [illegible]—It is confidently [illegible] that Lee's army is in full retreat. [illegible] that the sick and wounded [illegible] cannon had been sent up the valley [illegible] that the rebels will fall back [illegible] and the line of the Rapidan [illegible] where they can be in full communication with Richmond.

[illegible],000 persons have already offered themselves to [illegible] for the Florida expedition and wealthy ship owners of New York have proffered three first class steamers for the enterprise.

We are assured by those who should know that revelations yesterday in the Court of Inquiry, and those yet to appear, will demonstrate that Col Ford, who commanded Maryland Heights at the time of the surrender of Harper's Ferry, left his position against his will and in obedience to positive orders, and that Miles was responsible for the surrender.

WASHINGTON, Oct 6th.—The following is official:

JACKSON, Tenn., Oct 5.—The rebels yesterday under Price, Van Dorn and Lovell were repulsed from their attack upon Corinth with great slaughter. The enemy is in full retreat, leaving their dead and wounded on the field. Rosekrans telegraphs that the loss is serious on our side, especially in officers, but bears no comparison with that of the enemy.

McPherson, with his command, reached Corinth yesterday. Rosekrans pursued the retreating enemy this morning. Should they attempt to move towards Bolivar they will be followed to that place.

Gen Hurlburt is on the Hatchie with 5,000 or 6,000 men, and there is no doubt, with the pursuing column.

A second dispatch, of the same date, says that Gen Ord, who followed Hurlburt, met the enemy to-day on the south side of the Hatchie, as I understand from the despatch, and drove them across the stream and got possession of the heights, taking 2 batteries and 200 prisoners. A large portion of Rosekrans's force was at Chewalla.

At this distance everything looks favorable and I cannot see how the enemy can escape without losing everything except small arms.

Both dispatches are signed by Gen Grant.

CAIRO, Oct 5.—There is glorious news this morning from Corinth. The rebels have been routed and are retreating. Their loss is very heavy. Ours also is great.

Gen Dodge telegraphs from Columbus to prepare for a large number of wounded.

Price, Van Dorn and Lovell are in command of the rebels. They number 40,000.— Our troops are said to have acted nobly.

LOUISVILLE, October 4.—A dispatch from Portsmouth, Ohio, says John Morgan [rebel] with 1,000 men yesterday attacked the Carter county Home Guards, near Olive Hill. After several hours severe skirmishing the rebels were repulsed, 20 of them were killed. Morgan retreated towards Licking river, burning [illegible] houses on the way. He returned last night towards Olive Hill, but the Union troops had been reinforced.

Bardstown advices say that the rebels have 30,000 or 35,000 men within a circle of eight miles in diameter, beyond Bardstown. Our central advance was this afternoon 4 miles on this side of Bardstown. They have been skirmishing, driving the rebels before them. During the past 3 days we have captured 600 prisoners. It is reported that Kirby Smith has arrived at Frankfort with 10,000 men, and Humphrey Marshall is also said to be marching thitherward, with 5,000 rebels.— They evidently mean to make a stand at Frankfort and Bardstown. It seems that Bragg and Buckner left Danville for Lexington on Tuesday. The former in a speech at Danville on Monday threatened to send every man who would not join the rebel army to the north of the Ohio river.

The rebels are cutting new roads from Bardstown to Springfield and Lexington.— They are ready to enforce the Confederate conscription, wherever they have even temporary control.

NEW YORK, Oct 5.—A Key West letter of the 29th September says that Col Morgan has issued an order freeing all slaves in that Department.

The Herald's Washington dispatch says that Gen Lockwood was liberating the slaves of disloyalists on the Eastern Shore, Virginia.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct 6.—A letter from Gen Sibley, of the 28th of September, says that one party of friendly Indians, at the mouth of the Chippewa River, brought with them 91 whites who had been taken prisoners in some recent Indian forays. The fight at Wood Lake, September 23d, resulted in the repulse of the Indians—14 of whom were killed.

WASHINGTON, Oct 6.—The Richmond Examiner of Saturday says: "Congress again indicates an adjournment, coincident with a feeling of depression and apprehension in public mind. The general acquiescence in the executive management, right or wrong, has brought to us its bitter fruits. A close vigilant firm performance of congressional duties is much demanded by public exigencies as a wild, bold control of the army."

A resolution was adopted in the rebel Senate for the appointment of a Committee of 1[illegible] to take testimony relative to outrages committed by Yankees, that the great truths of history may be vindicated and the perpetrators of the outrages to be left to the just indignation of the present and future generations.

A bill had been introduced in the rebel Congress to provide against foreign counterfeiting of Treasury notes. The bill provides that if such notes are introduced by officers and soldiers and others of the United States the offenders shall suffer death.

A joint resolution was adopted in the Virginia Legislature which provides that no person shall be tried or imprisoned for killing any person who in any way aids or gives effect to the lawless and fiendish proclamation [illegible] emancipating the slaves.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct [illegible]—Col Solomon with three or four regiments attacked a rebel force of 7,000 on Tuesday last, at Newtonia. Our loss during the day was 140 killed, wounded and missing. Such of the wounded as fell into the hands of the rebels were treated most barbarously. The number of the loss of the rebels is not known, but it is believed to be much larger than ours. At last accounts the rebels still held Newtonia. A few days probably will decide who are masters in the South west.

CAIRO, Oct 6.—We can get no details [illegible] Friday's battle [illegible] On Saturday morning Price attacked Rosekrans' right. Van Dorn [illegible] The assault was made with great [illegible] At one time our centre was [illegible] the rebels reached [illegible] of the bayonet [illegible] over an abattis on [illegible] yards of the ditch [illegible] 11th Missouri [illegible] lasted [illegible] The number killed and wounded [illegible] not known. The rebels [illegible] much larger than ours. We have taken [illegible] including wounded. Gen Hackleman was killed [illegible] Smith, Mower and [illegible] Gen Hurlburt [illegible] south side of Hatchie River [illegible] Price [illegible] early on Sunday morning [illegible] attack [illegible] Hatchie [illegible] Rosekrans.

TELEGRAPHIC.—We received a dispatch last night from Yreka, [illegible] a dispatch received from Chico by express, informing us that the wires have been down between Trinity Centre and Weaverville since the 5th inst., hence there has been no later news received from the East than the dates taken from San Francisco papers. [illegible] Thomas, telegraphic operator at Yreka, informs us that the wires will probably be in working order in a day or two. The date of the dispatch was Oct 8th.

TOO LATE.—The order of Gen Wright, suppressing the [illegible] Advertiser came a little too late, as the thing died of itself. However, it will serve as a warning to other like secesh establishment which may undertake to spread their treasonable and incendiary publications broadcast over the country.

SEWING MACHINES

ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR

BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION

—AND—

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a TIGHT LOCK-STITCH, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle; curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer; should stitch, fell, run and gather; and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, or ravel.

DR. BAKER'S

PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oil and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases; If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhœa, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe the gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

A Moment of Passion.

That [illegible] ch[illegible] Mr Ellis's throat, and his voice was faint and husky

"And [illegible] tell you? Brave noble boy He came over to play with Eddie, and Eddie wanted to go down to the river but Willie said he couldn't go I heard Eddie coaxing him but Willie was firm because he said you had told him not to go I was so pleased with his obedience that [illegible] Well I lost sight of them after a little while, but as I learn Eddie would go down to the river and your boy followed him but kept at a distance from the water Instead of climbing over the logs and barrels, or getting into the boats he sat by himself away off Then, sir my Eddie in leaning over the river slipped and fell in, and your boy instead of running away, half frightened out of his senses, as most children of his age would have done sprang down to the wharf and into the water after Eddie I wonder that they were not both drowned It is only in God's mercy that they were saved When the man who saw what happened got to the place and looked over the dock into the water there was Willie, holding to a ring in one of the logs with his right hand and clinging to Eddie with his left Such courage and presence of mind in a boy almost surpasses belief Where is he? He ran off home as soon as the man lifted him out of the water I must thank him for his noble act"

At this moment the door opening into the porch swung back and the white face of Mrs Ellis looked out

"Oh, husband!" she exclaimed in a voice of terror "come to Willie! quick"

Mr Ellis followed his wife and the neighbor hurried after them The mother had found her boy lying insensible on the garret floor, and lifting him in her arms, had brought him down stairs, and laid him, in his wet clothes, upon her own bed

As Mr Ellis came into the room, he saw the deathly face turned toward the door — The sight seemed to blast his vision He struck his hands together, shut his eyes and stood still suddenly

"Will you run for the doctor?" said Mrs Ellis to the neighbor

The neighbor did literally as the mother said—he ran all the way to the physician's residence

By the time the doctor arrived, Willie's wet garments had been removed He asked but few questions as to the meaning of the boy's condition Mr Wheeler had told of his heroic conduct, and the inference was that there had been an over excitement of the brain, leading to suspended animation Still the case puzzled him

"He may have been hurt jumping from the wharf," suggested Mr Wheeler

The doctor, on this hint, examined the body

"What is this?" he asked, as a long, purple stripe, lying across the back and shoulders, met his eye. "And this?" he added, as he came upon another

Mr Ellis turned his face away, sick at heart, he could not follow the doctor's eyes

"He may have been hurt internally," said the doctor, drawing back the clothes, and covering the fair body that was marked with cruel lines He was right in that, but the injury was deeper than he imagined It was the boy's tender spirit which had been hurt.

"This will not last, doctor?"

The pale lips of Mr Ellis quivered, as he asked the question

"I think not," was the uncertain answer

It did not last There came, soon after, signs of returning vitality. The neighbors went home—the doctor retired—and the father and mother were left alone with the brave hearted boy, who had been so cruelly wronged. Mr Ellis could not bear to look at him He felt twice over, upon his own heart, the blows he had given There was such rebuke in the pale face and shut eyes of the boy, who had not yet spoken, or recognized any one, that he could not stay in the chamber Every moment he looked to see the eyes open, and how could he meet their gaze

Mr. Ellis had been away from the room but a few minutes, when the hushed voice of his wife calling him, reached his ears He came to where she stood, half way down stairs

"Willie wants you," she said

"Has he recovered?" inquired the father

"Yes He opened his eyes and looked all around the room almost as soon as you went out Then he shut them again, as if to think, and then looking up, after a little while, said 'Where is father?' I told him you were down stairs, and he said, 'Won't you call him?'"

Mr Ellis went up to meet his child in a state of mental depression difficult to be conceived He could have faced almost any imagined danger with less of shrinking than he now felt in going into the presence of Willie But there was no holding back What did the boy want? What had he to say? How would he receive him? These questions crowded and bewildered his mind He pushed open the door softly and went in

The boy's waiting ears had heard the almost noiseless feet approaching, and his eyes were upon the entrance Mr Ellis did not speak, but came over to the bed

"Oh, father! I didn't do wrong—I wasn't disobedient," said Willie, making an effort to rise from the pillow and speaking with eagerness "I tried to tell you, but you wouldn't hear"

He was going on, but his father caught him tightly to his heart and answered—

"I know it all, my brave, brave boy"

Then Willie's arms found their way to his father's neck and clung there tightly His cheeks, when his head went back to the pillow from which he had arisen, were wet, but not with his own tears Could father or child ever forget that day The child might, but the father never

Oh, hasty, impulsive passionate father, take warning in time! Be on your guard Hear before you strike Punish not on any hasty provocation Take nothing for granted. It is a sad, sad thing to bear through life a memory like that which burdens the heart of Mr Ellis, whenever the thought goes backward into the irrevocable past
